TEETH.

MR. J. EMANUEL, Surgical and Mechanical Dentist, begs to return his warmest thanks to the gentry and public of New South Wales, for the very extensive patronage he has received since his arrival in the colony. Mr. E. continues to supply Artificial and Natural Teeth, from one to a complete set, on the most scientific principles, guaranteed to answer every purpose of articulation and mastication; and in accordance with the times he has reduced his charges to a strictly moderate scale, so as to meet the views of the most ECONOMICAL. Sets of Teeth by SELF-ADHESION, without SPRINGS or CLASPS fixed without extracting the STUMPS.

MALFORMATION of Children's mouths eradicated, in cases where the Permanent or Second Teeth project too forward or backward, without drawing the Teeth.

Mr. Emanuel's Cement for stopping Decayed Teeth, however tender, without pain; the tooth warranted to keep the same colour. Those persons who have had their teeth stopped with any but the Cement of Mr. Emanuel, will find that the tooth is black, and the adjacent ones also.

Mr. Emanuel's diploma, received from the Medical Board of Holland, in the year 1836, to practice as Surgeon-Dentist, can be seen daily.

Mr. E.'s specimens of artificial teeth, having been much admired by several gentlemen of the faculty, he will be most happy to show any lady or gentleman his plan, without any fee for consultation.

Every operation incidental to Dental Surgery.

CONDITIONS.

QUALITIES OF THE SUPPLIES.

1. All the articles shall be of the best quality of their several kinds.

2. The bread shall be the produce of clean, sound wheat, barley, and maize, from which, on the military ration, 20 per cent., and on the convict ration 10 per cent., has been extracted in bran and waste. The wheaten bread shall be made in loaves of 3 lbs., and the mixed bread in loaves of 3½ lbs. each, and baked 24 hours before being issued; and parties tendering are requested to observe that the most rigid adherence to the conditions as to the quality of the bread shall be invariably enforced.

3. The fresh meat for the military ration shall be in the proportion of 5 lbs. of beef and 2 lbs. of mutton weekly, deliverable alternately in fore and hind quarters, when the quantity admits of it; for the convict rations the beef shall be delivered in the same manner, salted beef being issued only in summer to road parties, and when authorised.

4. The maize meal shall be similar in quality to the wheaten meal, and shall be twice ground.

5. The vegetables for the hospitals, and other establishments entitled thereto, shall be supplied in reasonable proportions of potatoes, greens, pumpkins, onions, &c.

The rum shall be West India, five per cent. under proof.

MODE OF DELIVERY.

6. The supplies above specified shall all be delivered by the contractor direct to the parties or establishments entitled thereto, upon the written order of the commissariat officer in charge of the district, or of the person authorised for that purpose.

7. At the several fixed stations, the rations for the troops, the convict establishments, and road and other parties, shall be delivered by the contractor at the barracks, establishments, or huts where the parties to be supplied may be stationed; being, previously to removal from the contractor's premises, approved by a person authorised for the purpose.

8. The forage shall be delivered by the contractor at the establishments where the horses or cattle are stationed; and in case the whole ration of forage be not required or delivered, each of the species shall be reckoned at the proportion of the ration undermentioned, viz.:—

The maize or barley 4-12ths
The hay 5-12ths
The bran 2-12ths
The straw .... 1-12th.

GENERAL CONDITIONS.

9. Parties tendering may do so by either of the three following modes, at their option, viz.:—

1. The whole of the supplies of every description, in each district, may be included in one tender, as at present.
2. Or the supplies may be tendered in subdivisions, as below, by separate tender for each subdivision, viz.:—
 1. The military ration
 2. The several rations for convicts are described from 2 to 8, inclusive
 3. The ration of forage
 4. The ration of fuel and light
 5. The supplies for hospitals
 6. The supplies for the penal settlements (Sydney).
3. Or the various articles comprising the several rations referred to, as well as those required for hospitals and other purposes, may be tendered separately and singly, by weight and measure, the undersigned reserving to himself the power of accepting tenders for supplying by any of these modes which he may find most expedient.

10. Contractors supplying road parties on the Bathurst or other roads similarly situated, shall have at all times on the spot a supply for fourteen days in reserve, in the care of a competent agent, to whom reference may be had in the contractor's absence.

11. In the event of a difference of opinion between the contractor and the party receiving the supplies, as to the quality, the same is to be decided, in cases where the article is of a perishable nature, by a board of survey, according to the practice of the service. But in country districts, where a board of survey cannot be conveniently assembled, the party objecting will name one person as arbitrator, the contractor or his agent another, and these two will (previously to any other proceeding on their part) concur in naming a third as umpire, who, in event of the arbitrators not agreeing in opinion, will be called upon for his decision, which shall be final.

If the board, arbitrators, or umpire, shall decide that the article is not according to the conditions of the contract, it must be immediately replaced by the contractor, failing of which it will be procured and the expense charged to his account. In cases where the article is of a perishable nature, or from some other cause injury would be sustained, either by the parties to whom the rations are due or to the contractor, by waiting for a board of survey, the head of the department, or officer in charge of the party or parties for whom the rations are to be received, shall have power to reject such article or articles as are obviously of inferior quality or in improper condition, it being distinctly understood that he will be responsible to the Government for so doing, and that the contractor will have a right to appeal; although, in the mean time, he must take back the rejected article, and supply good in its stead, failing of which it will be obtained by the officer or party requiring it, and the expense charged to the contractor.

12. It shall be in the power of either party to limit the duration of the contract, by giving, in writing, a notice of three calendar months to the opposite party, and to end the contract at the expiration of that period: it being understood that such notice can be given only from the first day of a month, and within the period for which the contract is made, or agreed to be made, and not later than the 1st of August.

13. The contractor shall prepare his own account, according to the prescribed form; and on the production thereof, with the requisite vouchers, in a complete state, shall receive payment monthly.

14. The value of all packages shall be included in the prices demanded.

15. Persons wishing to tender are requested to apply either at this office, or to the commissariat officers in charge at the several stations, who will furnish them with printed forms for the purpose, and communicate further particulars; and as adequate security will be required for the due fulfilment of the contracts, each tender must be accompanied by a letter from the parties proposed as such, stating that they are willing to become bound as securities for the contractor accordingly; and no payment will be made upon any contract until the bonds have been executed.

16. The amounts of the bonds required in the several districts are as follow, if contracted for collectively, viz:—Sydney, £5,000; Parramatta, £1,000; Liverpool and Campbelltown, £500; Illawarra, £500; Windsor, £500; Penrith, £500; Hartley, £500; Bathurst, £500; Newcastle, £1000; Maitland, £560; Port Macquarie, £500.

17. Tenders are to be enclosed in a separate envelope, addressed to the undersigned, marked "Supplies for 1844;" and no tender made in consequence of this advertisement shall be withdrawn or altered, but notice of those accepted shall be given within three days of the time of opening.

18. Flour in place of bread to be given for the military ration, when required, in the proportion of 14 2-7th oz. of the former for 16 oz. of the latter.

19. The contractor for the district of Sydney will be bound to furnish the rations and articles particularised under the head of Provisions, Nos. 1 to 12, not only for the purposes specified, but also for any other purposes of the military, naval, and convict services, should there be occasion for it.

ROBERT D. CUNYNGHAME, desirous to leave the colony, begs to offer for sale or lease, part of the splendid property known as Cunynghame's Wharf, Lower George-street. It comprises a blacksmiths' shop, foundry, piece of ground for wood or shipbuilding yard; also, Mr. C.'s dwelling cottage at top. For particulars apply to Mr. C., who will point out the premises.

Sydney, January 8. 379

AN EASY PURCHASE.

FOR SALE, two Cottages, garden, two-stall stable, and out offices, at CAMPERDOWN. The Cottages are adjoining, and contain five rooms each, with a wide elevated verandah, and a garden neatly laid out.

The whole amount of purchase will not exceed £300, and a small cash deposit only is required, the residue payable on very easy terms, extending over a credit of two and a half years, which will make it only like paying a rental for the purchase of a property.

The distance is very convenient from town, and the situation peculiarly healthy, with a beautiful and extensive view, commanding the cleared land of Grose Farm, the Parramatta Road, as far as Annandale, the whole of Sydney, the Flag Staff, Woolloomooloo, the new Barracks, South Head, and the Lighthouse.

For further particulars apply to J. W. Robinson, at Messrs. Deloitte and Co.'s, Miller's Point.

A Voyage of Discovery.—A letter from Stockholm, of September 7, says: "The Swedish brig, the Bull, Captain Warngresn, has just returned after a three years' voyage. On her arrival at Port Phillip, New South Wales, she was freighted by an English firm to visit the small islands of the Pacific, and obtain for manufactured goods sandal wood and other articles suited to the China market. During this voyage, which lasted about seven months, Captain Warngresn touched at some islands not visited probably since Cook's time, and four others not to be found on the map. The captain took possession of them in the name of King Charles John. The inhabitants were a mild race, ignorant of the use of iron, and ready to give for even a rusty nail a turtle. They were also fond of bits of glass, and would remain for three or four hours shaving themselves with pieces of broken bottles. A single musket shot was sufficient to disperse thousands of them—a proof that they had not before been visited by Europeans. The King of one of the islands presented the captain with his sceptre, made of wood artistically carved, and having a thin circle of jasper on the top. A name was given by the captain to each of those isles after some member of the Royal family of Sweden, and a quantity of plants, and tools made of stone and wood, have been brought home."—Scotch Paper, October 7.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 1844.

"Sworn to no master, of no sect am I."

WHO WOULD BE A GOVERNOR?

How the passage-money for the immigrants now arriving on our shores is to be paid is a mystery; at least £70,000 will be required, and Land Fund there is none. The Land and Emigration Commissioners' notice says, that the Government of this Colony will be instructed to pay the amount due; but singular to relate, no information on the subject has yet reached the Government; in fact the Governor himself knows nothing whatever upon the subject, except what he has learned from the newspapers. He has yet had no official notice that emigration was to be revived. There is an opinion afloat that the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury intend to repay some portion of the money abstracted from the Colony for Police purposes, by sending out emigrants, but we have not so high an opinion of their Lordships as to think that possible; we shall be glad to find that it is so.

FOREIGN CAUGHT OIL.

It is of considerable importance that it should be extensively known that the regulations formerly in force, which prevented American, French, and other foreign whalers from selling their oil in Sydney in sufficient quantities to defray the expenses of their repairs and outfit, have been done away with, as will be seen by the following official communication from the Lords of the Treasury to the Customs' department, which the merchants should circulate as widely as possible by sending copies of it in their whalers, and to ports where whale-ships are in the habit of touching to refresh.

To the Commissioners of Customs.

Treasury Chambers, April, 1843.

Gentlemen,—With reference to your Report of the 8th ultimo, covering a letter from the Colonial Department, regarding the question whether American whalers can legally be allowed to sell, for consumption in New South Wales, a sufficiency of their oil to defray the expenses of their outfit,—

I am directed by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury to acquaint you, that the Lords of the Committee for Trade having signified their concurrence in the observations submitted in your said Report, my Lords are pleased to desire that you will give the requisite authority to the officers of your department in New South Wales, for complying with the proposition of Governor Sir George Gipps, that American, or other foreign whalers frequenting the ports of that colony, may be allowed to sell for consumption in the colony a sufficiency of the oil made on board their ships to defray any expenses they may incur for repairs, stores, or provisions, subject to the payment upon the oil thus sold of such duties as may be legally due on the importation of oil of foreign taking and manufacture, and that they should be permitted, within the harbours of the colony, to transfer their oil to other ships of their respective countries for transmission to these countries.

I am, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

C. E. TREVELYAN.

Custom House, London,
29th April, 1843.

The foregoing copy of a letter from Mr. Trevelyan (one of the Secretaries to the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury) is transmitted to the Collector at Sydney for his information, who is to carry their Lordships' orders into effect.

By order of the Commissioners,

J. SEWELL.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE

INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS.

Friday.

Before the Chief Commissioner.

PROOF OF CLAIMS.

An adjourned special meeting was held in the estate of George Rowley, and an adjourned second meeting in the estate of Robert William Newman, but no claims were proved in either estate.

There are no meetings entered for to-day.

MEETINGS FOR MONDAY.

F. Mitchell and Co., a third meeting, at ten o'clock.

Joseph Compton Pott, a third meeting, at eleven.

Brisbane Robertson, a special meeting, at half-past eleven.

John Terry Hughes, an adjourned special meeting at noon.

New Insolvent.—The following estate was sequestrated yesterday: John Spears, of South Creek, near Windsor:—Debts, £103 10s. Assets—personal property, £85 5s. Balance deficiency, £18 5s.

CITY COUNCIL.

Friday.

Present — The Mayor; Aldermen Allen, Broughton, Flood, and Macdermott; Councillors Chapman, Agars, Cowlishaw, Coyle, Smidmore, Little, Jenkins, Driver, Neale, and Ryan.

FIRE ENGINES.

After the Minutes of the last meeting had been read by the Mayor's Secretary, in the absence of the Town Clerk,

Alderman Allen stated that the Committee for the inspection of the fire engines were prepared to bring up a report, recommending the purchase of them at £200; but a difficulty had arisen as to the two men employed with these engines, upon the subject of whom, the resolution, under which the Committee sat, was totally silent. The Mutual Insurance Association had agreed to accede to the terms offered by the Committee, so soon as the men had subscribed an agreement with the City Council, cancelling their former ones with the Association. The Committee would therefore have had no difficulty in recommending the employment of these men at such work as they could satisfactorily perform, if this obstacle had not arisen; but at present they could not proceed further without additional instructions.

After some desultory discussion upon this matter, it was suffered to drop without anything definitive being determined on.

STANDING REGULATIONS.

Alderman Allen said that a doubt had existed in the minds of the Committee upon the Standing Rules, as to whether their enquiry was to be limited to the Standing Regulations, or was to take in the rules for conducting the debates of the Council.

After some conversation it was understood that the Committee was authorised to take both these codes of regulations into their consideration, and it was understood that the report would be brought up at the next meeting.

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIETY.

Alderman Macdermott presented a petition from the Rev. J. M'Encroe, the President of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence Society, stating that the Society had at present no place in which to hold its meetings, and requesting permission to fit up the upper story of one of the market sheds for that purpose.

The petition was read and received.

DRAINAGE.

Alderman Macdermott called the attention of the Council to a notice of his, which had been standing over for some time, to the effect, that the Right Worshipful the Mayor should be requested to add to his financial minute for 1844, the sum of £6000 for the drainage of Sydney: and after a few introductory remarks upon the necessity of the work, both as a safeguard for the health of the citizens, and as the means of affording employment to the mechanics of Sydney, proceeded to move it in the shape of a resolution.

Mr. Thurlow supported the motion, and referred to a petition which had been presented some time back, signed by a large number of rate-payers, praying for the commencement of this work, as a proof of its being extensively called for. He also argued at some length upon the absolute necessity of some such measure to ensure the safety of the public from pestilential disease, and contended that the sum of £6000, when divided among the whole of the citizens, would be very trifling compared with the benefits which they would receive.

Alderman Broughton supported the motion, upon the ground that the means of employment which it would afford to the working classes, would more than counterbalance the expenditure.

Mr. Coyle said, that he should have no objection whatever to support the present motion, if the mover would show any means of raising the money without imposing an additional tax upon the citizens in the present time of general depression. As however the worthy Alderman had not defined this point, he (Mr. Coyle) would move, as an amendment, that the sum of £6000 might be borrowed at a rate not exceeding six per cent., for the purposes of drainage, thus avoiding the necessity of imposing a tax at all in the present season of difficulty.

Some further conversation took place, in the course of which the motion was supported by Alderman Allen and Mr. Little, and the mover having replied, Mr. Coyle's amendment was about to be put, when Alderman Allen objected that this amendment was out of order, inasmuch as no notice of a loan had been given. The Mayor decided that this objection was a fatal one, and the amendment having been thrown out, the original motion was put to the Council and carried upon a division.

CHIPPENDALE.

The next subject, which was a petition from the inhabitants of Chippendale for a road to that place, was passed over in consequence of their request having been anticipated by the commencement of a street or road of this description.

FORT AND ARGYLE STREETS.

Mr. Agars moved that the prayer of 117 citizens, presented at a former meeting, praying that advertisements should be issued for tenders to continue the connecting road from Argyle-street to Fort-street should be granted, and that the matter should be referred to the Board of Works for the purpose of drawing up the advertisement.

Alderman Macdermott could not see the benefit to result from a compliance with the prayer of the petitioners, or what good could accrue for giving tradesmen the trouble of inspecting the stone, and tendering to the Council for the work, except it was intended by this means to pledge the Council to carry out the work, or to send in estimates by way of feelers, to induce a belief in the Council that the work might be performed for less than had been estimated. He did not, however, intend to oppose the motion altogether, but was merely desirous that the advertisement should be drawn at once so that every person sending a tender of this kind might be immediately called upon to complete the undertaking. He should therefore move as an amendment that an advertisement might be at once drawn, inviting tenders for a cut of forty feet as prayed for by the petitioners.

Some further discussion ensued, in the course of which the amendment was supported by Mr. Cowlishaw, and the original motion by Alderman Flood and Messrs. Chapman and Smidmore. The mover then replied, and the question was put upon the amendment, which was lost. The original motion was then put and carried.

Alderman Flood moved, that, the sum of £2100 having been raised by assessment on the City towards the City Fund, for the year ending 31st December last, in addition to the sum of £2900 already collected, the Town Clerk be authorised to apply to the Government for a like amount, in pursuance of the Act of the Governor and Legislative Council, 6 Victoria, No. 5.—Carried.

SYDNEY MARKETS.

The next order of the day was for the adoption of arrangements for re-letting the Sydney Markets; and as it was understood that the Council possessed no power of making fresh arrangements until after the By-laws relative to that subject should have been passed, it was determined, upon the motion of Alderman Macdermott, to continue the present lettings until the 31st of March next.

WATER COMMITTEE.

Alderman Macdermott enquired, on behalf of the Water Committee what was the intention of the Council with reference to the licensed plumbers the Committee had been instructed to engage with; whether any thing was to be charged for the license, or any security taken for their not injuring the main pipes.

A brief conversation took place, and it appeared to be understood that the Water Committee possessed full power to act in this manner, according to their own discretion. It was therefore stated that the sum of 10s. 6d. being the amount charged by the Gas Company to the licensed gasfitters, would be charged by the Water Committee upon the licensed plumbers, and it was also remarked by Alderman Macdermot that under the present advanced state of the arrangements, the public would very spedily be enabled to have water laid on at their houses directly they applied for it.

COUNCIL CHAMBER.

Alderman Macdermott moved that a Committee, consisting of Aderman Allen and Messrs. Cowlishaw, Wolley and Jenkins, might be appointed to consult as to a more convenient arrangement of the desks and benches of the Council Chamber.

Carried.

POLICE MAGISTRATES.

Alderman Flood moved, that an addition of £100 per annum might be made to the salary of the Police Magistrate of Sydney, and dwelt strongly upon the importance of the office and the claims of the person who held it, to a salary sufficient to support his rank.

The resolution not having been seconded, was suffered to fall to the ground.

DISTRESS WARRANTS.

Distress Warrants were ordered, upon the motion of Mr. Woolley, to be issued against certain parties who had refused the payment of their rates—their numbers being nine in Macquarie Ward, sixteen in Phillip Ward, and fifteen in Brisbane Ward—or forty in all.

After some further conversation of a desultory nature, the Council adjourned till Monday week.

Appropriation Act.—The following is an abstract of the Appropriation Act, which was promulgated in the Government Gazette of Wednesday. The first clause provides that out of the sum of £92,847 6s. 1d., being the amount of sums appropriated, but not expended, for the year 1842, there shall and may be applied any sum or sums of money not exceeding £30,743 15s. to supply the deficiencies in the sums appropriated for certain departments and services of that year. The third clause provides for the issue and application of any sum of money, not exceeding £46,594 7s. 8d., to defray the charge of the undermentioned Civil and Legislative Establishments unprovided for by schedule B of the 5th and 6th Victoria, cap 76, for the year 1844, namely: £625 17s. 6d. for the Establishment of his Excellency the Governor; £3241 6s. for the Legislative Council Establishment; £932 0s. 6d. for the Registrar General's Establishment; £7581 15s. 7d. for the Customs Establishment at Sydney; £4453 4s. for the Customs Establishment at Port Phillip; £16,341 14s. 7d. for the Post Office Establishment of Sydney; £3195 13s. for the Post Office Establishment at Port Phillip; £1405 15s. for the salaries and allowances to Inspectors of Distilleries; £1000 for the Department of the Colonial Storekeeper; £1974 10s. for the Establishment of the Government Printer; £1483 0s. 6d. for the Establishment of the Port Master; £498 14s. for the Lighthouse at the South Head; £553 13s. for the floating light near the entrance of Port Jackson; £254 18s. for the Harbour Master's establishment at Newcastle; £209 4s. 6d. for the Harbour Master's establishment at Port Macquarie; £311 15s. 6d. for the telegraph establishment in the Sydney districts; £373 17s. for the pilot establishments at Wollongong, Brisbane Water, and Moreton Bay; £1501 12s. for the Harbour Master's establishment, Port Phillip; £170 16s. for the telegraph establishment at Port Phillip. The fourth clause provides for the issue and application of any sum of money not exceeding £39,186 4s., for defraying charges of public works and buildings during the year 1844, namely: £164 14s. for the salary and allowance to the superintendent of ironed gangs, Sydney; £278 19s. for the expenses of the steam dredge at Sydney; £1106 17s. 6d. for the Blue Mountains ironed gangs; £3600 for the Circular Quay; £968 15s. 4d. for completing the breakwater at Newcastle; £300 for completing the basin at Wollongong; £1447 3s. for the establishment of the Colonial Architect and Surveyor of Buildings; £1000 towards building the new Government House, Sydney; £3000 towards erecting a Custom House, Sydney; £1200 towards the erection of the New Military Barracks, Sydney; £1000 towards building the New Gaol at Goulburn; £1000 towards building the New Gaol at Bathurst; £2000 towards building the New Gaol at Maitland; £300 for additional sells at Newcastle Gaol; £780 for additions, alterations, and repairs, to the Supreme Court House, King-street, Sydney; £1314 4s. 2d. for repairs to the south wing of the General Hospital, Sydney, lately handed over to the Committee of the Sydney Dispensary; £3000 for casual repairs to Courts of Justice, and other colonial public buildings; £425 11s for the establishment of public works at Port Phillip; £2000 towards the erection of a gaol at Melbourne; £1500 towards building a Police Court and offices, at Portland; £200 towards building a temporary Custom House at Geelong. The fifth clause provides for the issue and application of any sum not exceeding £13,834 for defraying the charge of School Establishments during the year 1844, namely:—£2640 6s. for the Male Orphan School; £1844 6s. for the Female Orphan School; £1500 for Orphan School for Destitute Roman Catholic Children; £3450 towards the support of schools of the Church of England; £1200 towards the support of Presbyterian Schools; £350 towards the support of Wesleyan Methodist Schools; £1450 towards the support of Roman Catholic Schools, £1000 towards building a Roman Catholic Schoolhouse, in Sydney, on condition of an equal amount being raised by private subscriptions; £400 towards the support of Schools of all denominations in the district of Port Phillip. The sixth clause provides for the issue and application of any sum not exceeding £4596 6s., for defraying the charge of the Colonial Medical Establishment, namely: £325 for the salaries of the Health Officer and the Clerk to the Medical Board; £1371 6s. towards the support of the Lunatic Asylum, at Tarban Creek and £2900 towards the support of free paupers in Colonial Hospitals and Dispensaries. The seventh clause provides for the issue and application of any sum or sums not exceeding £6113 17s. 6d., to defray the expense of the administration of Justice in the colony for the year 1844, in addition to the amount appropriated for that purpose in schedule A of the 5th and 6th Victoria, cap. 76. The eighth clause provides for the issue and appropriation of a sum not exceeding £1909 1s. for defraying the charge of Coroners' Inquests during the year 1844, namely: £1704 1s. for the salaries of Coroners, and the expenses of inquests in the Sydney districts; and £205 for the salary of the Coroner, and the expense of inquests in the Port Phillip district. The ninth clause provides for the issue and application of any sum not exceeding £60,899 1s. 2d, for defraying the charges of the Police Establishments, namely: £941 16s. for the support of the Water Police, Sydney; £415 2s. for the Water Police, Port Phillip; £30,647 13s. 2d. for the Rural Police; £15,500 for the Mounted Police, Sydney and Port Phillip; £8558 2s for the Border Police, Sydney district; and £2416 8s. for the Border Police, Port Phillip district; £2420 for the Native Police, Port Phillip. The tenth clause provides for the issue and application of any sum not exceeding £10,143 1s. for defraying the charges of the Gaol Establishments, namely: £400 for the Sydney Gaol; £1061 9s. for the gaol at Parramatta; £713 10s. for the gaol at Bathurst; £1535 12s. 6d. for the gaol at Newcastle; £1160 7s. 6d. for the gaol at Berrima; and £1672 2s. for the gaol at Melbourne, in the district of Port Phillip. The eleventh clause provides for the issue and application of any sum not exceeding £7494 18s. to defray the charges of miscellaneous services during the year 1844, namely: £634 for the expenses of the Botanical Garden, Sydney; £200 towards the support of the Australian Museum; £[illegible] towards the support of the Sydney School of Arts; £1750 to meet drawbacks on the re-exportation of foreign goods; £800 for furniture for the several public offices at Sydney; £1000 for furniture for the several public offices at Port Phillip; £320 for fuel and light for the several public offices in Sydney; £140 for lighting the Government lamps, Sydney; £200 for the passages of convicts transported to Van Diemen's Land; £250 for the salary of the Colonial Agent General; and £2000 to meet any unforeseen emergency, and to be subsequently accounted for. The twelfth declares and enacts, that the Colonial Treasurer shall issue and pay the before-mentioned amounts to such persons, and in such manner, as the Governor by a warrant under his hand shall from time to time direct; and that such payments shall be charged upon any sums payable out of the revenues of the colony. The thirteenth and last clause enacts that the Colonial Treasurer shall be credited in his accounts for all payments of the above nature, and that the receipt or receipts of the persons to whom the money shall be paid shall be a sufficient discharge for the same.

Water Police Act.—The Act to amend the law usually known as the Water Police Act, and the laws relating to the government of seamen in the merchant service, was officially promulgated in a Supplement to the Government Gazette issued on Wednesday last. The following is an abstract of its provisions. The first clause, after reciting the Water Police Act, 4 Victoria, No. 17, proceeds to repeal a portion of that Act, it having reference to the detention of seamen accused of deserting, upon the complaint of any merchant, or merchant's clerk, &c., and enacts instead, that the power of originating such complaint of desertion against a seaman upon the point of leaving the colony, shall only be vested in the master of the vessel, the owner, part owner, or his agent. The clause also contains a proviso, that no seaman shall be detained beyond such reasonable time as may be necessary to bring him before a Justice of the Peace, to be dealt with according to law. The second clause enacts that the power of detaining any seaman or mariner shall not extend to cases in which such seaman to the master, owner, or agent of the ship to which he previously belonged. The third clause repeals so much of the before mentioned act as provides a punishment not exceeding three months' imprisonment for insubordination, and seven days' imprisonment for refusal or neglect of work while in harbour, as far as those provisions have reference to seamen in ships having a British Register, but leaves them in full force and effect as respects all vessels registered in the colony of New South Wales. The fourth clause repeals so much of the before mentioned Act as gives power to the Superintendent to issue search warrants upon a complaint on oath that any runaway seamen were supposed to be concealed in any vessel or house, and limits the power of searching and apprehending under such warrants to the particular seamen, and the particular place of supposed concealment named in the information. The fifth clause abolishes the office of Superintendent of Water Police, and vests the powers of that office in every Police Magistrate or Justice of the Peace of the places where such office had previously existed. The sixth clause repeals so much of the before mentioned Act as relates to the minimum amount of all penalties, and reduces the maximum of such penalties mentioned in the eighteenth section of the before mentioned Act to £25. The seventh clause repeals so much of the said Act as makes it a misdemeanour, punishable with a fine not exceeding £100, for having any runaway seaman concealed in any ship or vessel, and limits the future imposition of such fines to cases in which the master of such vessel is privy to the before mentioned concealment. The eighth clause reduces the imprisonment named by the 18th clause of the said Act, to any period not exceeding six calendar months, and abolishes the punishment of hard labour authorised by the same section. The ninth clause repeals as much of the said Act as imposes a penalty upon the master of any vessel from which no answer is returned to the challenge of the Water Police. The tenth clause abolishes the power of detaining seamen found on shore after nine o'clock at night, or before sunrise without a pass. The eleventh, repeals so much of the said Act as declares, that every person offending against the provisions of its 24th section, shall be deemed to have known of the existence of the agreement therein specified, unless proof is given to the contrary. The twelfth clause reduces the tonnage from 6d. to 3d. per ton, and exempts vessels trading to and from this colony and Van Diemen's Land, or New Zealand, paying the same more than once a year. It also wholly exempts vessels of all nations outfitting to, or refitting from, the Fisheries. The thirteenth clause reduces the term of imprisonment for the non-payment of penalties imposed under the said Act, from any period not exceeding six months, to any period not exceeding four months. The fourteenth clause enacts, that any seaman refusing to go to sea in any vessel in which he shall have signed articles, may be taken before a Justice of the Peace, and imprisoned in the House of Correction for any period not exceeding thirty days, unless he gives a sufficient and legal reason for such refusal. The fifteenth clause abolishes the power of granting special licenses of departure from the colony. The sixteenth clause declares that the term "seaman" shall not be deemed to apply to any person engaged to serve in any capacity on board any ship or vessel for a less period than one month. The seventeenth clause declares the Merchant Seaman's Act 5th and 6th William IV. cap. 19, to be in full force and operation in this colony. The eighteenth clause enacts that no person whose name shall appear in the Customs' clearance shall be detained, even although his name shall not appear in the Water Police list. The nineteenth clause enacts that no master of any ship or vessel shall be liable to the penalty contained in the ninth section of the said Act, for suffering any person to embark whose name shall not appear in the Water Police list of the officers and crew, provided the name of such person shall be in the Custom House clearance, and due notice thereof shall have been given to the principal executive officer of the Water Police department.

The New Court House.—The New Court House at Woolloomooloo is being fitted up preparatory to the holding of the ciriminal session there next week, and while this is being done it may be as well if those entrusted with the superintendence of the work would accommodate the reporters with a few inkstands, an omission often before complained of but never yet remedied.

Criminal Session.—There are twenty-one cases at present set down for trial at the ensuing Criminal Session; but it is expected that two or three more cases will be added to the list before the commencement of the session on Monday next. The following is a list of the prisoners whose cases are at present set down for trial, namely:—Michael Moore, free by servitude, murder; Thomas Humphries, bond, wounding with intent to do grevious bodily harm; Laughlin O'Bierne and John Punch, both free by servitude, manslaughter; John Clatworthy, free by servitude, forgery; William Brening, Ticket-of-Leave holder, carnal knowledge of a child above ten and under twelve years of age; John Rowell, free, highway robbery, being armed; William Stamper, free, horse stealing, John Lynch, free, perjury; Thomas Robinson; free, forgery; William Simpson, free, perjury; Edward O'Donnell, condition unknown, shooting with intent to murder; Edward Fitzsimmons, alias Edward Smith, condition unknown, horse-stealing; Mary Ann French, ticket-of-leave holder, perjury; James Barlow and Catherine Barlow, both free by servitude, assault, with intent to murder; Elizabeth Lindsay, and Mary Kelly, alias Allen, both free by servitude, robbery with violence; George Luxford, free, forgery; Charlotte Thompson, alias Mary Humphrey, free, tendering counterfeit coin; John Thompson, free, assault on the high seas; John Hargreaves bond, horse-stealing; Charles Kemp, alias Gore, alias Bond, alias Angelo, condition unknown, forgery: and John Maton, free, robbery being armed Southern Boiling Establishment.—Pursuant to advertisement, a meeting of stockholders and others interested in the southern districts, was held yesterday, at the Royal Hotel. There were about twenty gentlemen present. Mr. Henry O'Brien having been called to the chair, briefly stated the object of the meeting: they were all aware how important it was that cattle intended for boiling down should be saved a journey to Sydney which invariably deteriorates them very much, whereas if they had only to be removed to Goulburn Plains where there is plenty of grass and water, they would be in as good condition as on their own runs, and it would also be a good point for the Sydney butchers to attend for the purpose of buying for the Sydney market. It was intended that some practical man should be induced to take a number of butchers and labourers to Goulburn with the necessary apparatus for a boiling down establishment on a large scale, each settler pledging himself to send a certain number of sheep and cattle, in order that the party may know what he has to depend upon. A lengthy conversation took place, in which Messrs. Nicholson, Macfarlane, Savage, Owen, Bradley, Watson, M'Leay, and Chisholm took part; it appeared to be the general opinion that it would be inexpedient to form a company for the purpose contemplated, and that the best way would be to promise to support an establishment in the manner proposed by Mr. O'Brien, and that committees should be formed at Sydney and Goulburn, to gather information and make arrangements, which, as will be seen by referring to our advertising columns was done. A meeting of the Committee was held last night, at which Mr. J. F. King having stated his intention of proceeding to Goulburn for the purpose of forming an establishment for boiling down, the Committee was adjourned for a week.

The Immigrants.—The Herald has hauled alongside Campbell's Wharf, and persons requiring the services of the immigrants can now go on board to obtain them. We can only repeat what we have before said, that a more respectable well conducted body of men never arrived in Sydney, and we are informed that they are anxious to get to work immediately, and will take moderate wages. We would earnestly recommend them to get into the country as quick as they can, and if they can get employment, not to be too particular about the rate of money wages; when they become more used to the Colony they will be able to judge better what amount of money their services are worth, in proportion to what other persons are getting, then they can at present. The sooner they get out of Sydney the better; they will find it for their own happiness and prosperity hereafter.

Police Court Business.—The Mayor and Alderman Flood took their seats upon the bench at about half-past nine o'clock yesterday morning, and disposed of the drunkards' list, which contained seven cases. Of the defendants in these cases, one (a female) was discharged; four were sentenced to twelve hours' labour on the treadmill; one paid a fine of eleven shillings, and was sentenced to two hours' exposure in the stocks. The general charge list contained eighteen cases, as follows:—Joseph Brobroniskie was charged with obtaining fat under false pretences, but as it appeared upon examination that the charge had originated in error, in consequence of the defendant, who was a foreigner, not being able to make himself understood, he was discharged by the bench on payment of 15s., the value of the fat, and 5s. 2d. the costs of the Court; George Smith, charged with drunkenness and furious driving, was sentenced to pay a fine of £3, or to be imprisoned for two calendar months; Patrick Welsh, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, was admonished and discharged; John Gibbs, charged with indecently assaulting Anne Dowling, was discharged in consequence of the insufficiency of the evidence to substantiate the offence; Thomas Frazer was committed to take his trial for stealing part of a lathe; James Gunbar was committed for trial upon the charge of stealing wearing apparel; James Smith, Mary Duce, and Mary Lynch, for stealing £17 7s. 6d., were discharged on account of the insufficiency of proof; John Hart, for destroying a Jury list, was discharged; George Branton, for being at an illegal distance from his dray, was fined 10s. and costs; James Charles Robertson, for drunkenness and indecent exposure, was sentenced to pay a fine of £5 and costs, or to be imprisoned for one month; Robert Green, for drunkenness, and assaulting a constable in the execution of his duty, was fined £1, and 2s. 6d. costs; Ann Ryan, for being illegally on the premises of Mr. M'Encroe, was discharged upon finding sureties for her future good behaviour; Ann Sargeant, for stealing 5s. was sentenced to three months' imprisonment in Sydney Gaol; Sarah Connell, for assault, was discharged. The Water Police list contained four cases, three of which were against seamen for being absent from their vessels without a pass, discharged; and one sailor for being drunk in Pitt-street, fined 10s., with 1s. costs, or to be worked twelve hours on the treadmill.

Appointment.—His Excelleny the Governor has appointed Lieutenant Isaac Hendley H. Gall, of Her Majesty's 99th Regiment of Foot, to be Commander of the Mounted Police, stationed at Jerry's Plains, also a magistrate of the territory and its dependences, in the room of Captain Seovell, who rejoins his Regiment.

Ten Pounds Reward or a Conditional Pardon.—It having been represented to the Government, that the mail between Yass and Goulburn was, on the night of the 29th ult. robbed by an armed and mounted bushranger, supposed to be of the name of "Holloway," His Excellency the Governor has directed it to be notified that a reward of ten pounds will be paid to any free person or persons who shall apprehend and lodge the offender in any of Her Majesty's Goals; and that if apprehended and secured by a prisoner of the Crown, application will be made to Her Majesty for the allowance to him of a conditional pardon.

The Kissing Point Robbery.—During the course of yesterday, the Parramatta Bench committed one of the men concerned in the robbery of Mrs. Gaden, she and her son having identified him. The constabulary of the district have also obtained a clue as to the other man concerned in the heartless outrage The man already committed is a person who had been for some time previous to the robbery, employed as a workman about the premises.

Crown Lands.—By a notice in yesterday's Government Gazette, it appears that eight persons have availed themselves of the provisions of the Act of Parliament by selecting land at the upset price of twenty shillings an acre, which had been offered for sale at that and not purchased. The following is a list of them, Samuel Thompson, county of Auckland, parish of Towaka, portion No. 5, 125 acres; Merion Moriarty, county of Cumberland, parish of Holsworthy, allotment 1, 190 acres; John Hamilton, county of Roxburgh, parish of Falnash 50 acres; Francis Lascelles Wallace, county of St Vincent, near Bendoura, on Shoalhaven River, 52 acres; Thomas Bell, county of St. Vincent, near Bendoura, 38 acres; James Gilchrist, Gloucester, parish of Wilmot, farm No. 12, 36 acres; Luke Pearson, county of Gloucester, parish of Wilmot, farm No. 13, 71 acres; Andrew Little, county of Roxburgh, parish of Melrose, at Green Swamp, 50 acres. The total amount of these purchases is £612.

Wool Sale.—The attendance at Mr. Lyons's sale yesterday, was numerous, and the competition very animated; 23 bales of middling quality realised from 9d. to 10d. per lb., and a few of an inferior quality were knocked down at 7½d. to 7¾d. We are requested to add that Mr. Lyons's stores are open for the reception of wool, and which will be warehoused, if required, for three months previous to sale by Mr. L. free of rent.

Tea Sale.—By the advertisements and handbills posted in the town, purchasers of tea, will perceive that the 1500 packages, ex Isabella, which will be offered for sale by Mr. Lyons, on Monday next, will be sold without the least reserve, parties will, therefore find it worth their while to attend the sale.—Communicated.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

The markets have been exceedingly tranquil throughout the week. The sales have been trifling in the extreme. There is a total absence of speculative purchasing.

Wheat and Flour.—No alteration has taken place in these articles; the few holders of Van Diemen's Land wheat are firm for encreased rates, which are likely to be obtained.

Provisions.—Pork and Beef: These articles remain quite nominal, no demand exists. Butter, cheese, hams, and bacon, are superseded by Colonial, and great loss will be entailed on all importations.

Tea, Hysonskin.—This market continues in a very inactive state, with a drooping tendency. The importation ex Urgent, from China, consisted of 1200 chests, more or less damaged, by public competition, brought from 5s. to 15s. per chest; and a much larger quantity, ex Isabella, will be submitted on Monday, which will have the effect of materially depressing the market. Fine teas are without any demand.

Sugar.—The demand continues very dull, dealers only purchasing in small quantities; prices rule from £12 15s. to £16 per ton.

Coffee remains without any improvement.

Tobacco.—Some enquiries have been made, but no sales effected; the prices are without alteration.

Spirits.—This market is without enquiry, and no sales to report, but the principal holders of B. P. Rum are not pressing sales, in anticipation of increased rates.

Beer and Ales.—The demand continues very limited, and but few sales effected, at former rates.

Manufactured Goods.—There is scarcely any demand, arising from some houses retailing by the piece through auctioneers; and no improvement need be expected while this position lasts.

JOHN JOHNSON,
Broker.

Albion House, Miller's Point.

SYDNEY MARKETS.—Friday.

Wheat.—The wheat season has set in in good earnest, the sellers having brought more to market (upwards of forty loads have paid dues since last report) during the week than we recollect within the same time for many years. The quality is generally very good, and the millers are giving from 3s. 6d. to 4s. per bushel.

Flour.—In this market there is no stir whatever, and sales are confined to the immediate wants of the bakers. The millers quote as under, viz.:—

Fine flour........	10s. to 11s. per 100lbs.
Seconds ditto	8s. to 9s.
Ration—none.
No. 1 biscuit......	17s.
No. 2 ditto	14s.
Bran	10d. to 1s. per 20lb.

Bread.—The 2lb. loaf of good quality, 3d.

Maize.—Although none has been sold at the Corn Market, several large lots have been offered at prices varying from 1s. 5d. to 1s. 9d. per bushel. The buyers were not inclined to purchase even at those prices. The average retail price is now 2s. per bushel; some small dealers in back streets are still charging as high as 2s. 6d. per single bushel; where there are several dealers in the same neihbhourhood, the prices are from 1s. 10d. to 2s. 3d. per single bushel.

Oats and Barley remain as reported last week, the quality of the former being generally inferior. The wholesale prices are from 1s. 4d. to 1s. 8d., and the retailers charge from 2s. to 2s. 3d. Barley is still of an average description; wholesale prices ranging from 1s. 6d. to 1s. 10d. per bushel, and the retail charges from 2s. to 2s. 6d. per bushel, the latter being the maximum price realised for Cape barley.

Hay.—Upwards of one hundred and ten loads, most of them ranging from thirty to fifty cwt., have been on sale at the stand. The prices given were from 40s. to 50s. per ton: in some few instances as much as 60s. per ton was obtained. Lucerne is neither offered nor enquired for, the quality of that offered during the season being generally of a very inferior description.

Straw remains as reported last week, barely saleable, and likely to remain so until hay advances; about six loads have paid dues, the prices being from 20s. to 30s. per load according to weight and quality. As the parties engaged in the straw trade will not weigh unless the buyers pay the dues, it is impossible to say what is the price of straw per ton; but looking at the bulk and quality of some loads sold yesterday, it is very likely, if weighed, the weight price would be from 35s. to 40s. per ton.

Green Bedding.—One load paid dues and realized about 4s. per load; several loads have also been disposed of under the appellation of contract, and paid no dues, the prices realized for them have been from 4s. to 5s. per load. As the season is very warm, it is likely as much as 6s. will be given before the present month ends.

Grass.—Five loads paid dues, the wholesale prices ranging from 8d. to 1s. per dozen. The retailers are charging from 1s. 2d. to 1s. 4d. per single dozen; advance is confidently looked for.

Fat Cattle.—Some carcass butchers assert they are offering from 25s. to 40s. per head for fat beasts, while others say they can only afford to give from 25s. to 30s. per head. So far as the terms are known, the latter prices are nearest the truth.

Sheep.—There have been several forced sales of these during the week, but the butchers' prices quoted last week, from 4s. to 5s., remain unchanged. In some instances fat wethers have been sold as low as 2s. 9d. each, but then it was understood the buyers were friends of the sellers.

Milch Cows.—Six milch cows have paid dues at the Campbell-street Market, the prices realized have ranged from 50s. to 90s. per head..

Calves.—Three head have paid dues, the purchasers bought for slaughter, the prices given ranged from 3d. to 3½d. per lb. on the estimated weight.

Working Bullocks.—Several teams have been offered, but buyers could not be found. While horses are low priced as at present, it is not likely that draught horned cattle will be more than saleable in Sydney, nor in any other quarter of the colony.

Horses are plentiful; the prices remain as quoted last week, viz., roadsters from £6 to £10 per head; good gig, carriage, and cart horses realize from £7 to £9 per head, the average being about £8 8s. per head.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

The expense of administering justice, and obtaining advice for the Government of New South Wales, is great, whether reference be made to the population of the colony, to its wealth, or to the examples supplied by the other Colonial Dependencies of the British Crown.—Vide Dispatch of Lord Stanley to Sir George Gipps, dated 15th December, 1842.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—It was not unnatural to suppose that any attempt made to reduce the present enormous public expenditure of the colony, particularly of the law departments, would meet with some opposition; nor was it unlikely that some zealous friend, who, like Mr. Thomas Callaghan, has some of his "friends" affected by the proceedings of the Legislative Council, should endeavour, if possible, to befriend them in the manner he has endeavoured to do. But the question regarding the Crown Prosecutor does not appear to me to be so easily got rid of as this gentleman appears to imagine; and though he may "entertain a hope that the attempt to abolish the office of Crown Prosecutor (as a separate office with a salary of £600 per annum) may never be again renewed," I trust that the members of the Legislative Council will successfully carry out the system of wholesale retrenchment in this, as well as in other useless appointments, in the same delicate manner that they have commenced the plan of reform.

And in this they are borne out by the Secretary of State, under the dispatch from which I have made the quotation which heads this letter; and in the particular case now under discussion, by some, if not all, the Judges of the Supreme Court.

I have had the curiosity to examine into the numerous documents printed by the Colonial government from time to time, which bear upon the expense of the administration of justice. These documents have appeared in your paper, and are of importance to the public as showing the different sentiments of the Judges, upon the modes suggested to them for carrying on the law Department of the Government.

Sir James Dowling in writing to Sir George Gipps on the 12th March 1840, does not appear to contemplate the necessity of any Crown Prosecutor, as a separate officer in the Quarter Sessions; for that learned Judge, in expressing his opinion that "the Crown officers should still have a directing influence in the Administration of the Law, both in the Supreme Court and at Courts of Quarter Sessions;" and "the latter Courts, I apprehend, that it would not be necessary, except in special cases, for either of those officers to attend, and that the duty of promoting prosecutions might, with safety, be entrusted to the Crown Solicitor,, whose duties should be to attend Sessions for that purpose." His Honor Mr. Justice Dowling does not in the remotest way suggest any degradation of the bar, so indignantly resented by Mr. Barrister Callaghan, by allowing the Crown Solicitor to prosecute in the Quarter Sessions.

Mr. Justice Willis tells us that the depositions taken by the Magistrates in criminal cases are forwarded to the Attorney-General, who decides whether any further steps shall be taken, and whether, if a prosecution be proper, it shall be in the Supreme Court or Quarter Sessions. And then His Honor proceeds to suggest an arrangement (even without a Solicitor-General) by which "he thinks the Crown Prosecutor" (in the Quarter Sessions) might be dispensed with, as the Crown Solicitor would be fully competent to conduct such causes as might devolve upon him at the Quarter Sessions. His not being a Barrister would be no objection. We have lastly the recorded opinion of that intelligent and accomplished lawyer Mr. Justice Stephen, who, in his communication to Sir George Gipps, of the 13th March, 1840, expresses his sentiments confidently, "that with the assistance of a Solicitor-General (for the Attorney-General) and two Crown Solicitors, for civil and criminal business, permanently appointed, the offices of Advising Counsel and second Crown Prosecutor may be dispensed with"—and then intimates, "that he holds the same opinion with respect to the office of Prosecutor in the Courts of Quarter Sessions." True all this may carry no weight with Mr. Callaghan when he reflects upon the injury done to "his brother Barrister;" but I apprehend that the only question for the Legislative Council to consider, in considering the estimates before them, was, whether the office was or was not required. Could they then have more satisfactory or conclusive testimony than that above quoted? They did not point out to the Executive how the duties should be performed; they did not appoint Mr. Rogers, "without a proper professional education for the office," to do the duty; but they had provided for an Attorney and Solicitor General, and for Civil and Criminal Crown Solicitors, and the Judges of the land had solemnly expressed their opinion that such machinery was ample for the "due administration of justice." Why then should the Legislative Council provide for a useless officer?

Mr. Callaghan's assertion "that a grievous wrong was done to a member of the bar," by the Legislative Council, "a great injustice offered to the whole profession, and a monstrous outrage inflicted on the law and constitution of England," will, I imagine, not pass for much among the thinking part of this community, when placed in opposition to the high legal authorities to which his opinion is opposed. If any or all this has been done, I think it cannot be denied that the Legislative Council has acted under the sanction of the Judges of the Supreme Court.

I may, before I conclude, quote the clause of the Act which authorises the appointment of a Crown Prosecutor to the Quarter Sessions. "And also, it shall be lawful for the said Governor to appoint any officer or officers by whom, and in whose name, all crimes, misdemeanours, and offences, cognizable in the several Courts of Quarter Sessions in all other parts of the said colony, may be presented, except as aforesaid (meaning Port Phillip and New Zealand): provided always that nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit or controul any authority vested by law in Her Majesty's Attorney-General for the said colony."

The Act does not, as at Port Phillip and New Zealand, where there was no Attorney-General, make any provision that the Crown Prosecutor shall be a barrister; and their Honors the Judges say the Crown Solicitor may perform the duty. If not, I venture my humble opinion, in opposition to that of Mr. Callaghan, that the Solicitor-General may; and then "the bar" need not be degraded.

With this feeling of esprit de corps, for which the profession will doubtless be grateful, but with which it is likely the colonists will not have much sympathy; Mr. Callaghan is naturally shocked that His Excellency, (notwithstanding the feeling of personal obligation which seems somewhat to embarrass his position in commenting upon the line of proceeding adopted by the Governor, "should have the power to appoint an indefinite number of petty officers, who are to have the power, each in his own district, of filing in his own name, and of afterwards prosecuting informations for felonies." For all this, or so much of it as is correct, the present Legislative Council is not answerable. The former Council passed the law authorising such proceedings, and I have proved that the present Legislative Council have provided amply for the proper administration of justice without any such alternative being resorted to. I touch not the question of compensation to Mr. Cheeke; to that I doubt not the Council will give every attention, should the Executive Government think that gentleman has any claim to be remunerated for the abolition of his office.

It seems rather inconsistent that Mr. Callaghan, who is so sensitive respecting his friends and the Bar, should deal so largely in inuendoes against those who have at least as important public duties to perform, and who I doubt not acted conscientiously, and with every regard to the claims of the service as well as of individuals.

Your obedient servant,
JUSTICE.

Warragumba, 10th January, 1844.

THE MAIZE CROP.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—In looking over your report of the Sydney Markets, in your last Saturday's Herald, I see it stated,—"Maize is now plentiful, as the late rains, which have been very general, have secured the forthcoming crop." I am sorry to inform you, such statements will not apply to the three rivers (viz., the Hunter, Lower Paterson, and Lower William) where more maize is in general grown than in all other parts of the colony put together. I have had occasion to visit those districts within the last few days, and will venture to affirm that if the settlers had rain, to their hearts' content, there would not (from the severe draught that has been) be a sixth part of an average crop of early maize; and if we have not rain within ten days it will be all but an entire failure. The late rains have done those districts but little or no good, not having penetrated the ground above an inch or an inch and a half; with immediate rain there can be no stubble maize.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
TRUTH.

Maitland, 8th January.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—I want to know if the police can interfere with me, as I keep cows and am obliged to collect the manure in a heap quite close to the pathway. A constable came to my place and ordered me to remove it, as it was a nuisance to the neighbours, in consequence of the bad smell proceeding from it, and he threatened to have me fined. Now, gentlemen, only think of the fellows impudence (for I have paid my taxes regularly) in ordering me to remove the manure off my premises. Before the Corporation was established, I could keep it where I pleased, but now I must pay my taxes, and cart away my manure, because it annoys my neighbours: so I want your advice, and I hope you will publish this letter that all cow-keepers may take the hint and remove the nuisance from their premises, or they will be fined.

COWKEEPER.

A Schoolmaster in a town in Herefordshire, not having sufficient employment as a pedagogue, engaged to collect a lamp or lighting rate. His success was not such as the parish could wish; and on the overseers looking over the book, they found several names to which the letters "O.P." had been attached. Inquiry being made of the collector as to the meaning of the cabalistic letters, his answer was "on't pay."

A Bad Speculation.—We understand that amongst the advances made by the Joint Stock Bank, which has just exploded in the Isle of Man, was one of £10,000 to no less a personage than Don Carlos, of Spain, made at the time when his army was starting from the Basque Provinces for Madrid, and which was to have been repaid tenfold when he arrived there. Unluckily, both for the Don and the Bank, he was stopped on the way by Espartero, in consequence of which he lost his chance of the crown, and the bank lost its principal and interest. We have heard that the sailing of the Spanish armada was retarded by the refusal of the bankers of Genoa to make certain advances to the Government of Spain, but we certainly were not aware until very recently that the fate of the Spanish Monarchy had been so nearly decided by a Joint Stock Bank in the Isle of Man.—Times.

THE SOUTHERN DISTRICTS.

AT a Meeting of Stockholders and others interested in the Southern Districts, held this day at the Royal Hotel, pursuant to advertisement,

Henry O'Brien, Esq., in the Chair,

It was moved by Robert Owen, Esq., seconded by George M'Leay, Esq., and carried unanimously—

1. That it being highly desirable to promote an establishment for rendering stock into tallow and other profitable purposes, this meeting hereby appoint a committee of gentlemen, with power to add to their number, to obtain all information necessary for placing an establishment in a locality most suited and central to the southern districts, to communicate with parties who may be willing to undertake such an establishment, and to take all necessary measures for obtaining the assistance of stockholders to support the establishment. That it be an instruction to the Committee to communicate with the different Stock Proprietors of the southern districts, and to take all proper measures for inducing them to send their stock to the establishment when organised.

It was proposed by Charles Nicholson, Esq., M.C.; seconded by James Manning, Esq., and carried unanimously.

2. That the following gentlemen form a Committee in Sydney, to carry out the arrangements necessary towards the formation of a Boiling Establishment at Goulburn Plains, with power to add to their number:

W. Bradley, Esq., M.C.	Dr. Savage
C. Nicholson, Esq., M.C.	Thomas Barker, Esq.
J. Macarthur, Esq., J.P.	Mr. Taafe
Mr. D. Mackenzie	Mr. James Manning
Mr. G. M'Leay	Mr. Watson
Mr. Chisholm	Mr. H. O'Brien, and
Mr. Macfarlane	Mr. Owen.

It was proposed by Charles Nicholson, Esq., M.C.; seconded by G. M'Leay, Esq., and carried unanimously:

3. That the Chairman do write to the following gentlemen, requesting them to form a Committee for Goulburn Plains, and to cooperate generally with the views of the present meeting:—

Captain Rossi	Mr. F. Macarthur,
Mr. Faithful	Mr. William Shelly
Mr. Hovell, and	Captain Gore

with power to add to their number.

It was proposed by William Bradley, Esq., M.C.; seconded by Charles Nicholson, Esq., M.C., and carried unanimously,

4. That Mr. Charles Kemp be requested to act as Secretary.

HENRY O'BRIEN, Chairman.

Mr. O'Brien then left the chair, which was taken by —— Macfarlane, Esq., when it was moved by William Bradley, Esq., M.C., seconded by Robert Owen, Esq., and carried unanimously,

5. That the thanks of this meeting be given to Henry O'Brien, Esq., for his able conduct in the chair.

CHARLES KEMP, Secretary.

CITY OF SYDNEY MISSION.

ON Wednesday Evening, the 10th instant, a Public Meeting of the members and friends of the Australian Methodist Society, was held in the Ebenezer Chapel, Pitt-street, at which the following resolutions were passed.

R. Gowland, Esq., in the Chair.

1. Whereas it is manifest that a large number of the inhabitants of this city are living in the entire neglect of religious duties; it is therefore highly necessary that means should be instituted for affording them the instruction required.

2. That an obligation rests upon every Christian of this city, to aid in supplying the neglected portion of its inhabitants with the means of religious instruction.

3. That in the opinion of this meeting, the most effectual means of accomplishing this object is by visiting from house to house; which course would afford opportunities for the distribution of religious tracts, reading the scriptures, and holding prayer and other meetings.

4. That this meeting cordially approve of the resolution of the quarterly meeting, viz., appointing Mr. Garrett to spend a portion of his time in this work; and hereby pledge ourselves to support the same by every means in our power; and further, that we will make it a matter of special prayer to Almighty God, that His blessing may attend his labours.

5. That Collectors be appointed by the Circuit Committee, to obtain subscriptions from the religious public, to aid in carrying on this work; and that the resolutions passed this evening be advertised in the Sydney Morning Herald.

6. That the thanks of this Meeting be presented to R. Gowland, Esq. for his efficient conduct in the Chair. 702

SHEEP-BOILING BY STEAM!!!

FOR SALE, a Three Horse Waggon Steam Boiler, fitted with three-inch steam pipe, copper worms, and force-pump for supplying the boiler.

The above is recommended to settlers wishing to boil down their surplus stock, the system of boiling stock by steam having been lately tried, and found to answer exceedingly well, as the fear of burning the tallow is entirely done away with. Samples of the tallow can be seen, and the quantity obtained from an experimental trial may be learnt, on application to

ENGLISH EXTRACTS.

BANQUET AT THE MANSION-HOUSE, LONDON, IN HONOUR OF THE DUKE OF VITTORIA.

The Lord Mayor having invited his Highness the Duke of Vittoria to a grand banquet at the Mansion-House, on Tuesday, in order that the Corporation of the City might testify to his Highness the estimation in which it held his character and the principles which he had endeavoured to support while Regent of Spain, his Highness, attended by his suite arrived, shortly before six o'clock.

The introduction to the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress having taken place, his Lordship proceeded to read to his Highness the following resolution of the Council:

"Resolved,—that this court, feeling a deep interest in the independence and prosperity of the Spanish people, intimately connected as they are with that state of commercial and political intercourse which must tend to the mutual advantage of both nations, has witnessed with disappointment and sorrow the forced retirement of the Regent of Spain from that country, which, under his zealous and patriotic guidance, was making rapid strides in the path of constitutional government and healthful internal policy. That it desires to express sincere sympathy with the Regent in the frustration of his wise and philanthropic plans for the permanent happiness of Spain, and it is the cordial wish that the triumph of these principles may be of lasting duration to the country he has served so faithfully, feeling assured that the happiness of the people, the only end of good government, will be thereby increased.

(Signed) "MEREWETHER."

His Highness, who was dressed in plain clothes, but wore the orders of the Golden Fleece and of the Bath, acknowledged the fervent expressions of the corporation, in Spanish, but the following is a translation of his speech:—

"My Lord Mayor,—I accept, with gratitude, the generous sentiments and sympathy shown me by the Court of Common Council. The feelings expressed by the corporation of this great city are the same as those by which I am animated. As a citizen, as a soldier, and as a Regent of Spain, my efforts have ever been directed to obtain the independence, the liberty, and welfare of my country, and to consolidate the constitutional throne of my Queen. Spain, unfortunate at present, will one day be as prosperous as she deserves to be, and intimately connected with England, her natural ally, and with all civilised nations, will contribute her share to the general happiness of mankind."

His Highness and the rest of the company then proceeded to the Egyptian Hall to partake of

THE BANQUET.

The Egyptian Hall was decorated as usual with the banner and the insignia of the corporation, and jets of gas from several chandeliers threw a brilliant light on all around.

The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress were seated at the head of the cross-table. His Highness the Duke of Vittoria sat on the right of his Lordship. Among the company at the cross-table we observed the Viscount Canning, General Van Halen, attached to the suite of Espartero; the Hon. Otway Cave, M. P.; Sir Claudius Hunter, the Governor and Deputy-Governor of the Bank of England; H. Ward, Esq., M. P.; Colonel Wyndham; D. W. Harvey, Esq., Mr. Masterman, M. P., Mr. Lyall, Sir Burgess Camac, &c.

The cloth having been removed, and the usual loyal toasts and the "Army and Navy" given.

The Lord Mayor rose to propose the toast of the evening, "His Highness the Duke of Vittoria," and, in doing so, said, I fear that my ability will not do that justice to the distinguished person whose health I have now the honour to propose, and those deeds that he has performed, to which he is entitled, and which I know he deserves; but I may say that he has been received in this country as all strangers and all men who are deserted by their friends in time of need are received, and in a manner that Englishmen would ever receive such men. (Loud applause.) And why has he been deserted by his country? Because he upheld those constitutional principles which we, as Englishmen, and more particularly the corporation of this great city of London, admire, and are ready to lay our lives down for. Enmity has sprung up in Spain against Espartero because he, like most of ourselves, has arisen from the people. He was born one of the people. He has not arisen from the aristocracy of Spain, and, therefore, has enmity been felt towards him, which has at last driven him from his country. I may, perhaps, inform you that the General was born of humble parents. His father, if I may speak to you of his rising from his youth upwards, was a farmer who cultivated the soil of Spain; but his father thought, as I hope all fathers in Spain will think, that his son required an education, and he accordingly placed him at a university for youth, as an engineer; and there is this glory belonging to him, that the whole of his college, consisting of some five or six hundred young men, formed itself into a battalion, which ultimately, after forming part of the army at Cadiz, was disbanded. He then became one of another army, which, as those who are opposed to the principles for which it contended think, was arrayed against the legitimate Sovereign of Spain, Don Carlos; and he there, as commander-in-chief, defeated the army of Don Carlos. But now, on the part of those who upheld Don Carlos, and thus deprived the nation of its freedom, an enmity has risen up against him, and why? Because he was one of the people raised up to govern a great and important country. His feelings have been constitutional from first to last. If he had liked he might have been the Regent of Spain at this moment, but he would not suffer those principles to be carried out, which he thought would destroy the constitution that he had sworn to protect. That constitution, he felt, would tend to the benefit of his fellow-countrymen, and prove glorious to his country, which, unfortunately, has of late years so much been impaired. He was anxious to raise Spain to the grandeur of the Spanish nation in former times. His countrymen could not understand how he could do it, and therefore the enmity of the opposite side endeavoured to destroy his power and that of his party in the country, and it has so far succeeded. It has been said by some that the reason why they wished to get rid of him was this, that he entertained too great a feeling towards this country. But his feeling toward this country was no more than it was to every other country. He was anxious to have a trading—a reciprocal trading, not only with this country but with France and every other country in Europe. He was anxious to show not only to this country, but to all countries, that commerce was the life and spirit of his country, and to introduce into his country commerce to the fullest extent. He was desirous to export all his country's materials, its fruits, its wine, its ore, and everything it possessed into this country, and receive our produce in exchange. His Highness was anxious to introduce free trade into his country, and if he had been so fortunate as to have succeeded, he would have made Spain as it was formerly, and will ultimately, if his cause succeed, be again. And I am sure when the Spanish people reflect that they have lost such a General and such a man, they will repent of having conspired to destroy him, and sent him from his country. Sincerely do I hope that at some not far distant time we may see, if not himself re-instated, the principles which he supported and endeavoured to enforce embraced by the Spanish people, and by every kingdom in the world. I am sure you will be glad to drink his health, and give him that hearty welcome which all Englishmen have given, and will ever give, to foreigners in distress.

The toast was responded to with much enthusiasm.

His Highness the Duke of Vittoria returned thanks in Spanish, but we subjoin a translation of his speech:—

"My Lord Mayor and Gentlemen,—The generous and hospitable reception I have met with from the British people, their Queen, and Government, will ever be to me a source of most grateful recollection—(cheers). The British nation—the high-minded and liberal British people—have thoroughly understood the feelings that have ever guided the actions of him who has now the honour of addressing you, and who, having hoisted the constitutional flag of his country, carried it victoriously, until finally the enemies of liberty disappeared—(cheers). Solemnly elected Regent of Spain by the national will, I was determined to govern the kingdom within the law; to preserve the law, and allow no one to transgress the law—(hear, hear). The enemies of the liberty and independence of my country and of the constitutional throne of my Queen are indebted for their momentary triumph to that religious respect which I have ever shown to the fundamental law of the State. (Much cheering.) But I shall never on that account regret that such has been my conduct; for I am convinced such is the only conduct a constitutional Regent ought to follow. Thus it was my intention, when the time fixed by the constitution for Isabella II., commencing the exercise of her constitutional authority should arrive, that she should find herself at the head of a flourishing and great kingdom; quiet within, respected without, and progressing in that prosperity to which it is entitled by its position, climate, and the character of its people. (Great cheering.) I have asserted it a hundred times, and it is with much satisfaction I now repeat it here, to secure and consolidate the public and civil liberty of my country; to preserve in act the constitutional throne of Isabella II., to deliver into her hands the authority with which I was entrusted in the manner determined by the law, and then to retire into private life, and become once more a private citizen; such were ever my wishes—such my determination. An evil destiny has prevented the fulfilment of my intentions, and I have been obliged to retire from my country; but in the midst of my misfortunes it is a great consolation to have met with so generous a reception in this, the classic soil of constitutional liberty, whence I offer the most fervent vows for the happiness of my country. (Cheers.) And wherever fate may lead me, I shall always have the most lively recollection of the sympathy shown me by the British people, and more particularly by the city of London, the prosperity of which I now beg leave to offer as a toast. (Vehement cheering followed the conclusion of this translation of the Regent's speech.)

The toast proposed by His Highness was drunk with all the honours.

His Lordship then proposed "The Health of General Van Halen, and the suite of his Highness."

General Van Halen returned thanks in Spanish, and expressed the great anxiety he felt for the welfare of Spain, and a hope that this country might have all the prosperity and happiness which he sincerely wished for his own country.

The Lord Mayor then proposed the next toast—"Viscount Canning and the House of Lords."

Viscount Canning, in returing thanks, regretted that the honour of responding to the toast had not fallen to some worthier member of the house to which he had the honour to belong. He also regretted that many noble Lords who had been invited to the banquet had been prevented from attending, in consequence of being at this season of the year in the country. But he believed he might say for those noble Lords, that if they had been present, they would have witnessed with the same admiration as he felt, the magnificent and princely hospitality with which the first magistrate of the first city of the world had welcomed the distinguished stranger, whom the force of adverse circumstances had sent as a visitor to the shores of this country. That distinguished stranger had told them that the reception of this night would live in his memory, and he (Viscount Canning) trusted that, whatever future events might bring about, when his countrymen, both those that were around him and those that were left behind, remembering his reception, they would bear in mind that it was offered to him as a man who had filled the highest situation which a subject could fill, and had discharged its duties with scrupulous honesty to his young Queen. (Loud Cheers.)

His Lordship next proposed the "Health of Henry Ward, Esq., M.P., and the Members of the House of Commons," and in the course of his observations read a letter, which he had received from Lord Stanley, expressive of his regret that a slight accident which had happened to him while visiting at Sir Robert Peel's, and confined him to his room, would deprive him of the pleasure of partaking of the banquet. His Lordship also expressed his sorrow at the recent death of Sir Matthew Wood.

Mr. Ward returned thanks, and spoke in eulogistic terms of the Duke of Vittoria.

His Highness the Duke next proposed the "Health of the Lady Mayoress."

The Lord Mayor returned thanks.

The healths of the Members of the city of London, the Governor and Deputy-Governor of the Bank of England, and other toasts, were then given and responded to.

His Lordship and his distinguished guest quitted the hall at eleven o'clock. The company then retired to the drawing-room, where coffee was served up.

The Duchess of Vittoria was invited to the banquet, but illness prevented her attendance, Her Highness, however, arrived in the course of the evening, and witnessed the banquet from the gallery.

REBECCA IN LONDON.—UNIVERSITY COLLEGE GATE.—A few evenings since, Hill, the porter and keeper of the gate of London University College, which crosses Gower-street, New Road, and prevents carriages from passing along the front of University College Hospital, received a letter, with the Signature of "Rebecca" attached, declaring it to be the intention of herself and others to remove the "obstruction" called a gate, on the following night. Hill, believing the matter a joke, took no notice; but to his astonishment, early next morning he was awakened by the night-porter, who informed him that the gate (a large wooden one, like the ordinary toll-bars) was gone. On examination, it was found that not only had the large padlock by which it was fastened been broken and carried away, but the gate had been filed off its hinges, conveyed by the depredators into the College grounds, and hid among some shrubs. The gate has again been raised; but since the occurrence, Hill has received another notice, informing him that it is the intention of Rebecca and her daughters, on Monday night next to effect its entire destruction. What is extraordinary in the affair is, that the gate should have been removed without the knowledge of the police, the beats of two constables joining close to the spot, or of the night porters, either at the college or the hospital.

ANGEL BOYS AND GIRLS.—Another species of angel, which we doubt not is known to most of readers, will be found in mamma's angel boy and papa's angel girl; but if any be innocent of this knowledge, we strongly recommend them to remain so. These are most especially among the angels which no lady with a decent gown on her back will suffer one of them to sit beside her at the dessert; for the least to be expected is, that the angel will wipe its sticky fingers on her sleeve, while she will escape well if a whole glass of wine is not thrown over her lap into the bargain. These angels, too, take possession of every one's trinkets, no matter how valuable. They make a coach of a morning visitor's hat, stir the fire with his cane, put his eyeglass into their mouths, and will do their best to get possession of, and of course to break, his fifty guinea Breguet. These little angels, too, have a monstrous knack of riding on a gentleman's knees, kicking his shins, and, if very young, poking his eye out with their abominable little fingers. Angels of this class also make a point of handling every object within their reach, breaking china, oversetting ornaments worse than a monkey, and they kill or maim all sorts of pet animals that cannot defend themselves; they tread upon cats' tails, pull the feathers out of the canary's wings, take the gold fish out of the globe, to see what makes them open their mouths, and then leave them to die on the carpet. For these, and sundry other reasons, a wise person will cut, without mercy, all and sundry mammas who bring their angel children out visiting with them, just as they do those pests of society who keep about them animal angels—angels of dogs, angel mascaws, and angel apes.—New Monthly Magazine, by the late Sir Charles Morgan.

DINING OUT IS A HORRID BORE!—"Folks are up to the notch here when dinner is in question, that's a fact—fat, gouty, broken-winded, and foundered as they be. It's rap, rap, rap, for twenty minutes at the door, and in they come, one arter the other, as fast as the sarvants can carry up their names. Cuss them sarvants! it takes seven or eight of 'em to carry a man's name up stairs, they are so awful lasy, an' so shockin' full of porter. If a feller was so lame he had to be carried up himself, I don't believe, on my soul, the whole gang of them, from the butler that dresses in the same clothes as his master, to Booth that an't dressed at all, could make out to bowse him up stairs: upon my soul I don't! Well, you go in along with your name, walk up to old aunty, and make a scrape; and the same to old uncle, and then fall back. This is done as solemn as if a feller's name was called out to his place in a funeral; that and the mistakes is the fun of it. * * * Arter you are in marchin' order, you move in through two rows of sarvants in uniform. I used to think they was placed there for show, but it's to keep the air of folks a goin' through the entry, and it ain't a bad thought, nother. Why, the first time I went to one o' these grand let offs, I felt kinder skeery; and as nobody was allocated to me to take in, I goes in alone, not knowin' where I was to settle down as a squatter, and kinder lagged behind; when the butler comes and rams a napkin in my hand, and gives me a shove, and sais he, 'Go and stand behind your master, sir,' says he. O Solomon, how that waked me up! How I curled inwardly when he did that! 'You've mistaken the child,' sais I mildly, and I held out the napkin; and jist as he went to take it I gave him a sly poke in the bread-basket, that made him bend forward, and say 'eugh.' 'Wake Snakes, and walk you chalks,' sais I, 'will you?' and down I pops on the fust empty chair. Dear, how white he looked about the gills arterwards; I thought I should a split when I looked at him. Guess he'll know an attache when sees him next time. Well, there is dinner. One sarvice of plate is like another sarvice of plate, any one dozen of sarvants are like another dozen of sarvants, hock his hock, and champagne is champagne, and one dinner is like another dinner. The only difference is in the thing itself that's cooked. Veal, to be good, must look like anything else but veal; you mustn't know it when you see it, or its vulgar; mutton must be incog., too; beef must have a mask on; anythin' that looks solid, take a spoon to; anythin' that looks light, cut with a knife; if a thing looks like fish, you may take your oath it is flesh; and if it seems rael flesh, it's only disguised, for it's sure to be fish; nothin' must be natural, natur is out of fashion here. This is a manufacturin' country, everything is done by machinery, and that that ain't must be made to look like it; and I must say the dinner machinery is perfect. Sarvants keep goin' round and round in a ring; slow, but sartin, and for ever, like the arms of a great big wind-mill, shovin' dish after dish, in dumb show, afore your nose, for you to see how you like the flavour; when your glass is empty it's filled; when your eyes is off the plate, it's off too, afore you can say Nick Biddle. Folks speak low here; steam is valuable, and noise onpolite. They call it a 'subdued tone.' Poor tame things, they are subdued, that's a fact; slaves to an arbitrary, tyrannical fashion, that don't leave 'em no free will at all. You don't often speak across a table any more nor you do across a street; but p'raps Mr. Somebody, of west eend of town, will say to a Mr. Nobody, from west eend of America, 'Niagara is noble.' Mr. Nobody will say, 'Guess it is; it got its patent afore the 'Norman Conquest,' I reckon, and afore the 'subdued tone,' come in fashion.' Then Mr. Somebody will look like an oracle, and say, 'Great rivers and great trees in America. You speak good English.' And then he will seem surprised, but not say it, only you can read the words on his face, 'Upon my soul, you are a'most as white as us.' Dinner is over. It's time for ladies to cut stick. Aunt Goosey looks at the next oldest goosey, and ducks her head, as if she was a goin' through a gate, and then they all come to their feet, and the goslins come to their feet, and they all toddle off to the drawin'-room together."—Sam Slick in England.

FOR SALE, THE "ANGEL INN," ON THE LIVERPOOL ROAD,

Now on Lease to Mr. Sutherland, at the very low rental of £4 per week, (payable weekly), standing with its Orchard, Garden, and Paddocks, on forty-three acres of Land, all fenced in,

FRONTING THE HIGH ROAD.

MR. STUBBS, in announcing his instructions to dispose of this highly improved and notoriously superior property, takes occasion to remind the considerate and prudent capitalist, how that a respectable man of active mind and persevering habits of business is sure to get on and make a fortune in such concern as this, and it is so that Innkeeping positively the only line a man can do himself any good in, or make a fortune by, in these times. Both tenant and rental being always safe and sure, there never can be any risk in purchasing property of this description; and the terms are on such a liberal scale that the property may be nearly all paid for, by good management, before the last bill becomes due.

THE INN

is brick-built, very capacious, and arranged under the following accommodations, viz.:—

ON THE GROUND FLOOR—A tap and bar, with two sitting parlours, and three bed rooms;

THE UPPER STORY contains three sitting rooms and four bed rooms; with

A DELIGHTFUL VERANDAH AND BALCONY.

ATTACHED

is a good capacious kitchen, with store and servants' room;

OUT-OFFICES, &c.;

with stabling for twenty horses, coach house, stock yards, piggery, fowl houses, and everything pertaining to a first-rate establishment, enclosed within a brick wall.

THE GARDEN AND ORCHARD

take up some three acres of ground, well stocked, having four acres also prepared for the further cultivation of fruits.

The estate is well watered. The distance is about

SEVEN MILES FROM SYDNEY.

It is the great coaching house of the road, and resort of the principal Sydney families on a day's excursion of pleasure, or public holidays: being part of the well-known 1000 acre grant formerly granted to Mr. Faithful, and opposite the Brighton estate.

therefore announces that the sale will take place, by public auction, at the Rooms, King-street, on MONDAY, the 22nd day of January, at twelve o'clock precisely, under the following unusual liberal terms of credit, viz.: Twenty per cent. cash deposit, and the residue at three, six, nine, and twelve months, without interest.

Further particulars will appear in a future advertisement. 591

NOW IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY FOR THE POSSESSION OF FARMS OF REAL WORTH.

MR. LABAN WHITE begs to announce that he has been honoured with instructions to submit to public competition, on MONDAY, 22nd instant, on the land, those celebrated Estates, the property of His Excellency Lieut.-General Sir Maurice O'CONNELL, Commander of the Forces, known as Mount Macquarie and Riverston, in the County of Cumberland, and adjoining the Mail road from Windsor to Parramatta and Sydney; there is also a cross road running through the Estate from Blacktown and Bungarrabee to Rouse Hill and the Windsor Road, divided into portions varying from 20 to 70 acres.

These Estates, embracing all the requisites attending the pursuits of the class of persons enumerated at the heading, relieves the auctioneer from a detail; suffice then to say, that it possesses rich alluvial soil, good water, timber, pasturage, commanding sites for dwelling houses, easy distance from markets, in a most respectable neighbourhood, and convenient adjacency to places of worship. It is very extensively bounded on one side by the well-known Eastern Creek, possessing an inexhaustible source of pure water in the driest seasons.

Mr. L. White will only observe, further, that the terms are so easy, and within the reach of all, that with industry and perseverance the possessor in his own right must be the result. Land was, and ever will continue to be, the real source of wealth.

The sale will commence at twelve for one o'clock, near the Vineyard. A flag will be exhibited, showing the entrance.

The plan may be seen at the office of F. Beddek, Esq., Solicitor, Windsor, and further particulars obtained; as also at Mr. Edward Coffey's, Daniel O'Connell Inn.

TERMS—Twenty per cent. cash deposit; the remainder by approved bills, at the respective dates of three, six, nine, twelve, fifteen, and eighteen months, the last two bills bearing bank interest.

A lunch will be provided.
